Clinical Decision Making Flashcards | Quizlet

Clinical decision making is the process by which we determine who needs what. While not exactly arbitrary, this exercise can be quite subjective. Clinician compiles their own data (hence the emphasis on learning to perform an accurate H&P) and then constructs an argument for a particular disease state based

Clinical Decision Making - University of California, San Diego

An updated model for evidence-based clinical decision making emphasizes consideration of the "clinical state and circumstances of the patient" as a key element. Such an individualized approach to injury prevention and treatment decisions needs to be supported by research evidence that provides some basis for predicting the outcome that will ultimately be realized by a patient who possesses a given set of personal attributes, pathophysiologic indicators, and routine physical demands.
